

Reasonable Adjustment

Purpose

ABC Licence Training understands that all learners may not be capable of demonstrating competency in the same manner and hence it is our responsibility to ensure that our learners have the access and opportunity to complete their chosen program irrespective of their condition/situation. ABC Licence Training will take all steps to provide equitable access to all its learners and ensure that they are not disadvantaged in any way during their learning journey.

This Policy should read in conjunction with the Access and Equity Policy as well as the Privacy Policy of ABC Licence Training.

Process

ABC Licence Training will request information relating to any disability in its enrolment form. It is the learner's discretion if he/she wants to avail the opportunity for reasonable adjustment. If a learner does choose to disclose their need for reasonable adjustment; ABC Licence Training will take effective steps to consult with the learner and accommodate them in the best possible manner. ABC Licence Training may request the learner to provide documentation from a medical or other health professional so as to plan and implement the required adjustment for the learner. All information provided will be treated in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988.

If ABC Licence Training concludes after its assessment that the learner may not be able to gain competency in the enrolled unit; the student will be advised of the same. ABC Licence Training are also not required to make any reasonable adjustment which would cause unjustifiable hardship on the RTO. ABC Licence Training may seek advice from the Australian Human Rights Commission in certain circumstances.

Examples of reasonable adjustments we may consider include the following:

- Extra time or extensions for assessments
- Course material in alternate formats – electronic, large print, braille
- Use of assistive technology

- Ergonomic chair/desk
- Alternate assessment tasks.
